Rajmund Skowron (Nicolaus Copernicus Univ., Poland)
Wojciech Sobolewski (Maria Curie-Skłodowska Univ., Poland)
Marek Turczyński (Maria Curie-Skłodowska Univ., Poland)

Scope of the conference

To share experience on the ecology, complexity and diversity of freshwater ecosystems, development of restoration and management methods, control measures and risk assessments.

TOPICS

1. Lake hydrology
2. Freshwater biodiversity
3. Physical limnology
4. Paleolimnology
5. Aquatic toxicology
6. GIS and modelling in limnology
7. Lake-catchment relations
8. Water Framework Directive (WFD)
9. Shallow lakes and ponds
10. Functioning of reservoirs
11. Lake management and bioindication
12. Lake restoration

Organizers

Polish Limnological Society

in co-operation with

Czech Limnological Society

Slovak Limnological Society

Hungarian National Assoc. of Environmental Engineers

Romanian Limnogeographical Association

Lwowska 1, 87-100 Toruń, POLAND

Conference venue

Hotel Port 110, City of Łąwa, Poland

Accommodation

We kindly ask conference participants to make a room reservation on their own. Ława offers many good accommodation places in different price range. We recommend:

Port 110 (<http://www.port110.pl/en/>)

Stary Tartak (more expensive option) <http://www.starytartak.com.pl/en>,

Guesthouse Barakuda (cheaper option) <http://noclegi.interia.pl/en/barakuda,ilawa.html>

Mid-Conference Scientific Trip (2 June 2016)

We offer a scientific trip along the Elbląg Canal and deltaic lake Druzno. The cruise runs through the section of the Elbląg Canal with its system of 5 inclined planes, which is one of the most distinguished achievements of hydraulic engineering in the world, and through the Druzno Lake Nature Reserve – Natura 2000 SPA for birds.

Trip cost (including a dinner on the deck) 40 euros / 160 PLN

If you are willing to participate, please add it to the conference fee payment.

Abstract and/or article Submission

Please submit your abstracts via email to: limnoconference@amu.edu.pl

Each conference participant can be a co-author of maximally two abstracts and first author of only one abstract.

Length of each abstract should not exceed 3 pages and contain: title, author(s) name and affiliation(s), references. Font: 12 pt. Times New Roman. Tables and/or black&white figures are allowed.

All accepted abstracts will be published in Conference Proceedings.

We also greatly encourage all participants to submit the full-text publication to Limnological Review which is a free Open Access journal. Submissions from participants of the conference will be given the highest priority. Guideline for authors: <http://www.degruyter.com/view/j/limre>
